

joint-degree program law and information

The College of Law and the School of Information joint-degree program in Law and Information, J.D./M.S.I. permits completion of both degree programs concurrently. Following admission to either program, a joint-degree student is required to submit the necessary joint-degree application. Interested applicants normally begin their study at the College of Law. A joint-degree student who wishes to enroll for any coursework in the other college or department before completing the first-year of law school must obtain prior written approval from the College of Law. Current law students may also apply to the joint-degree program by the deadline during their first or second year in law school. Once enrolled in the law school they will then complete all necessary documentation for the application process through the School of Information as well as a joint-degree application before July 1st. All required documents should be returned to the College of Law Office of Admissions.

Applicants to the School of Information must have a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university and an upper division (junior and senior) grade point average of 3.0 or better. Applicants who have scored 160 or better on the LSAT will have the GRE requirement waived.

How To Apply

1. Visit the Florida State University College of Law Office of Admissions to obtain a joint-degree application and necessary documents for the School of Information.
2. Complete the documentation.
3. Do not send or have documents sent to the School of Information. All documents must be returned to the College of Law Office of Admissions before July 1st.

Applicants will need to:

1. Provide a completed JOINT-DEGREE PROGRAM APPLICATION form.
2. Provide an updated legal resume.
3. Have official LSAT scores on file with Florida State University.
4. Provide a completed SCHOOL OF INFORMATION SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION form.
5. Two letters of recommendation (one academic and one professional).

Conferring of Degrees

Students in joint-degree programs receive both degrees concurrently. Students may not be certified as a graduate without having completed the graduation requirements in the College of Law and the School of Information. This includes the Law upper-level writing requirement, the skills training requirement, and the pro bono requirement.

Residence Requirement

Unless otherwise approved by both advisors and the College of Law Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, students enrolled in joint-degree programs must earn a minimum of seven semesters of residence credit. Based on the College of Law formula for determining residency, one semester of residency credit is earned for every 12 credit hours of courses taken in the College of Law and the School of Information.
