

CONTACT: Barbara Ash
(850) 644-2788, bash@law.fsu.edu, or
Fernando Teson, fteson@law.fsu.edu

Dec. 23, 2003

WORLD RENOWNED POLITICAL SCIENTIST TO LECTURE AT FSU LAW SCHOOL

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.-The public is invited to the Tobias Simon Distinguished Lecture by political scientist Robert O. Keohane of Duke University.

Keohane, the James B. Duke Professor of Political Science at Duke, will make his presentation at 4 p.m., Jan. 8 at Florida State University's College of Law in Room 101. The lecture is titled "Preventive War: A Cosmopolitan Institutional Proposal."

Keohane has taught at Swarthmore College, Stanford University, Brandeis University and Harvard University where he was Stanfield Professor of International Peace.

"Professor Keohane's work is fundamental reading for anyone seriously interested in international relations, especially in our troubled times," said Fernando Teson, the Tobias Simon Eminent Scholar at the FSU College of Law. "He is a true superstar."

Keohane is the author of "After Hegemony: Cooperation and Discord in the World Political Economy" (Princeton University Press, 1984), for which he was awarded the second annual Grawemeyer Award in 1989 for Ideas Improving World Order. He also is the author of "International Institutions and State Power: Essays in International Relations Theory" (Westview, 1989), co-author (with Joseph S. Nye, Jr.) of "Power and Interdependence: World Politics in Transition" (Little, Brown, 1977, third edition, Addison-Wesley, 2001) and co-author (with Gary King and Sidney Verba) of "Designing Social Inquiry: Scientific Inference in Qualitative Research" (Princeton, 1994).

He is editor or co-editor of, and contributor to, 11 other books. Between 1974 and 1980, he was editor of the journal, International Organization. He was president of the International Studies Association, 1988-1989, and of the American Political Science Association, 1999-2000. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and has held a Guggenheim Fellowship and fellowships at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences and the National Humanities Center.

Please RSVP to Stephanie Williams, assistant dean for academic affairs, at 644-3301 or swilliam@law.fsu.edu.