24 Roslyn Street, Kings Cross 2011, Sydney, Australia

Uniya, a Christian Centre for Social Research and Action, formerly the Asian Bureau Australia (ABA), is a research and educational organization, devoted to helping Australians understand the events of Asia and the Pacific and to "uncovering the reality of Australia's relations with people of other countries." The name Uniya is after the first Jesuit mission station established at Daly River, Northern Territory in 1886. Uniya is focusing its action in Australia on the just claims of Aborigines, refugees and migrants, and on the implementation of the bishops' statement on the distribution of wealth. It is also concerned with Australia's place in and contribution to the Asia-Pacific region.

*0858 Task Force Detainees of the Philippines (TFDP)

#19 Malingap Street, Teachers Village 1101, Quezon City, Philippines
 Numerous reports of gross violations of human rights, including torture perpetrated by the martial law government of President Marcos, prompted the establishment of TFDP in 1974 by the Association of Major Religious Superiors of the Philippines (AMRSP). The Task Force gathers data on people detained by the government, on "salvaging" (disappearances), and on torture or other forms of cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment, and seeks to alleviate the plight of detainees and their families.
